Rep'n Convention Gets Under Way

Enthusiasm Marks Opening of the National Convention at Cleveland — Preliminary Organization With Congressman Burton as Temporary Chairman — His Speech Outlines Issues of Campaign.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Convention Hall Cleveland, O., June 10.—The Republican National Convention was formally put under way in Cleveland's beautiful auditorium this morning with the quiet precision of a well oiled machine. No fuss, no feathers, no disorder, and what noise there was, was almost lost in the magnificent great open spaces of the hall.

The picture presented when the opening gavel fell was theatrical rather than political. The hall was almost cathedral like in its vastness and beauty.

"For the last 20 years I have had the soot from rafters of the old Coloseum run down by back whenever any body disturbed the air by yelling real loud," said an old timer. "Here I feel as though I were in church. If that organ would just strike up 'Nearer My God to Thee,' I'd shut my eyes and swear it was Sunday."

Hall Artistic Triumph.

Cleveland certainly showed the hosts of Republicanism something new in the way of conventions. It was an artistic triumph, however cut and dried the politics of the meeting might be.

The delegates just sat and loked at the spaciousness and the soft rose and violet lights shed down from the lofty ceiling, and remarked about the absence of the familiar bunting and red, white and blue decorations. There was none of the old familiar pomp and display of other conventions.

A single American flag of huge proportions was the only spot of violent color in the place. On it were draped three pictures — Lincoln, Harding and Roosevelt. That was all therewas in the way of decorations.

The crowd was slow in arriving and strangely enough the spectators in the balconies that ringed the spacious hall were slower than the delegates.

It was 11:20 when Adams finally stalked out again and presented the pudgy figure of George B. Lockwood, secretary of the National committee, who read the official call just to make everything legal and traditional.

National Anthem Gets Applause.

Immediately a band struck into the Star Spangled Banner, the lights went off and a rose radiance was shed over the hall. From the back of the stage with multi-colored lights playing on it, dropped another huge American flag.

There was a round of applause as the band finished and the lights went on again.

Then with John Philip Sousa, the famous bandmaster wielding the baton, the band struck up the Stars and Stripes Forever, while sergeants-at-arms and other supernumeraries dashed hither and yon getting the stage set for the formal picture.

The floor presented a busy picture with delegates milling around, finding their seats and shaking hands with friends and acquaintances.

It was more like old home week than a political convention. Secretary of the Treasury Mellon was the center of a little throng and in the space of a few minutes probably shook more hands than he does in a week in Washington.

Bishop Breaks Prayer Record.

The gavel fell again and Adams introduced to the gathering the Rev. William F. Anderson, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, who delivered a prayer. He spoke at length, giving thanks for the great leaders of the past and asking divine guidance for the future.

It was one of the longest prayers that ever opened a national convention.

Delegates Sing America.

Then more music. Under the leadership of a singing master, an innovation introduced four years ago by Will H. Hays, the convention stood and sang "America."

A lot of time was occupied with the taking of the convention photograph.

The flashlight exploded with the proportions of a French 75. The hall was so large that a can of powder had to be used to get the picture.

Crowd Shows Enthusiasm.

This formality concluded the business of the convention really began. John Adams spoke briefly in welcome and praise of party achievement. The crowd listened with scattering applause until he reminded them they were here to "nominate the next president of the United States" and then there was a real yell.

"This is the eighteenth Republican national convention.

"It is only sixty years since Lincoln was president. In that brief period our country has enjoyed the greatest moral and material advancement in all history.

"This has been brought about largely under Republican rule. And at no time have the problems of government been more wisely and effectively met than during the last three years.

"Our party has always stood for constructive progress. It was always endeavored to promote the welfare of the average man. It has always adhered to America's best traditions, both in domestic and in foreign affairs.

"Today, Europe is torn by class cleavage and hatred which threatens every social order. America, alone, in the great family of nations, is united and stable, prosperous and free, and at peace with all the world.

"We are here, now to pledge our faith in American institutions and to name the next president and vice-president of the United States."

Burton Gets Ovation.

Adams nominated Representative Theodore Burton, Ohio, to be temporary chairman and there was another yell. He appointed a committee of three, Senator Peter Norbeck, South Dakota; Mrs. Carlisle of Indiana, and A. T. Roberts of Michigan, to escort Burton to the chair.

Then, as an after thought, he called for a vote on whether Burton was to be the choice. It was given with a roar and the genial chairman retired blushing over his mistake in appointing the committee before the delegates had signified their ratification of William M. Butler's choice of Burton as the temporary chairman.

No Room For Third Party.

Pointing backward with a prideful finger at Republican accomplishments during the past four years and peering ahead into the future with a promise of further constructive administration if President Coolidge is given the necessary working majority in congress, Representative Theodore Burton in his speech uttered a significant warning to Republicans that there is no room in this country for third party.

Burton Outlines Issues.

The speech of Representative Burton did more than merely open the convention amid all the familiar colors and panoply of great political gatherings—it set down with considerable definiteness the issues upon which President Coolidge seeks the sanction of the electorate for a continuance of Republican power.

In speaking of the issues. Representative Burton charted this course for the party:

Further tax reduction and reform, along scientific lines as laid down by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

Strict law enforcement.

Conscription of wealth and labor in time of war as well as of human life.

Advancement of the date of the president's inauguration from March fourth to the preceding January 1, in order that the public will earlier accomplish its result in the halls of congress.

Another arms conference as soon as Europe is stabilized and in that state of tranquility that will make possible international agreements.

Adherence to the world court advocated by Harding, Hughes and Coolidge, with the reservations written by the former.

There was no direct reference to prohibition or to the Ku Klux Klan, and as for the bonus, Representative Burton merely stated it was now on the statute books and should be accepted as such.

Concerning the investigations at Washington, which resulted in the unearthing of so much scandal, he said:

"I must enter a solemn protest against the impression that there is widespread corruption at Washington. It is an infamous crime to seek to destroy the confidence of the American people in their government."

Undoubtedly, he said, instances of bribery and corruption had been disclosed, but these were matters of personal, not party responsibility, he declared, and has been punished as such, irrespective of politics or partisan considerations.

Millions Heard Burton.

Burton began speaking at 11:27, it was to be a long speech and the delegates settled back comfortably in their seats for a long stay. They listened with comparative silence to the earlier part. Even the eulogy of the late President Harding failed to elicit more than scattered applause.

He spoke slowly and directly into a radio device which carried his words out of the great hall, reproduced them in the principal hotel

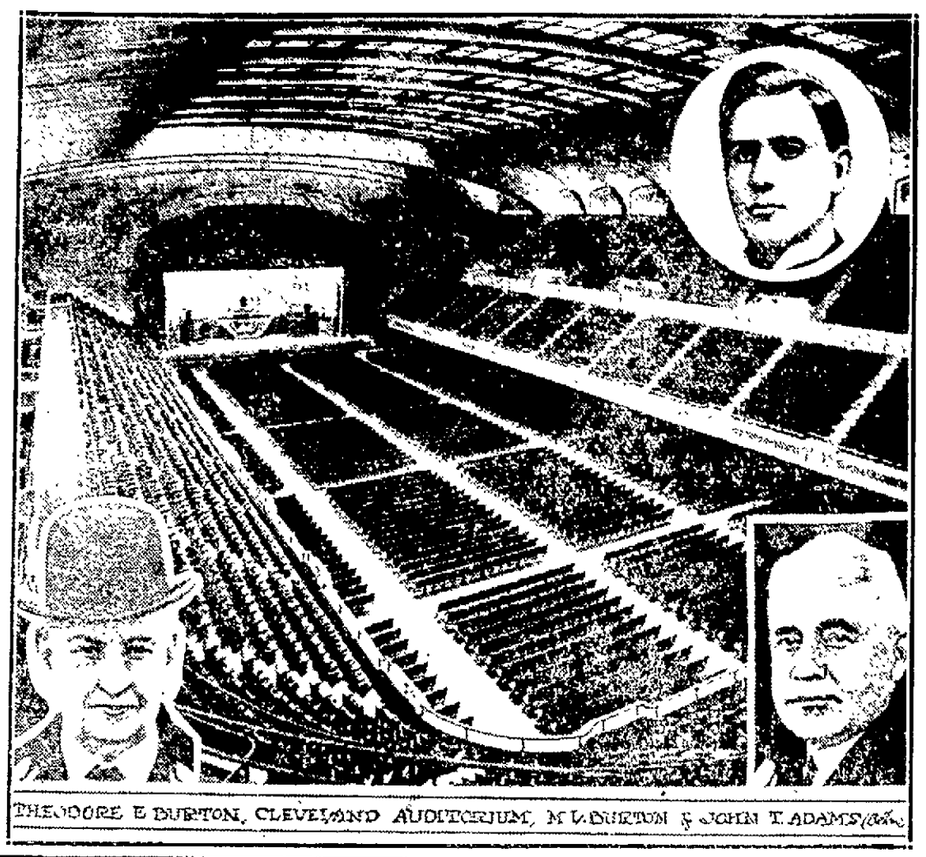
REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION OPENS IN CLEVELAND.



THEODORE E BURTON, CLEVELAND AUDITORIUM, M.E. BURTON & JOHN T. ADAMS

Arrest Payne on Serious Charge

Man Who Broke Parole at Napanoch Institution Ran Away With 15-Year-Old Kingston Girl.

Search for the man alleged to have attempted an assault on four years old Dorothy Faller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Faller of 170 Monhagen avenue, Middletown, in the rear of her home on Friday last, ended Sunday with the capture of Warren H. Payne, who gave his address at Kingston, N. Y. Payne was captured on the Leach Farm, near Bloomingburg.

Living with Payne as his wife was Beatrice Heiser, aged 15. She gave her address as 76 North Front street, Kingston. The girl admitted running away with Payne eight months ago. She was placed under surveillance at the Middletown Sanitarium.

Arraigned before Recorder Howard M. Starr at Middletown Monday on a serious charge preferred by Miss Heiser, Payne waived examination and was held for the action of the grand jury. The complaint made was signed by Beatrice Heiser and George DeKay of 383½ North street, Middletown, in whose house Payne and Miss Heiser are alleged to have lived as man and wife from May 29 until June 6. Mr. DeKay testified that a forged license was shown when Payne and the girl applied for lodging. Miss Heiser broke down when she was taken before Police Chief McCoach of Middletown and admitted that she had left home with Payne on her own accord.

The other charge that Payne could have been arraigned on was not pressed by Mr. and Mrs. Faller, parents of the child, but may be later.

Payne's criminal career began several years ago with a six months' sentence by Supreme Court Justice Seeger at Goshen for assaulting a girl. He says that after his release he was arrested on an assault charge preferred by a girl in Ponckhockie and served 18 months in the institution for defective delinquents at Napanoch, from which he was paroled 10 months ago. At another time, he says, he was arrested in Schoharie for wife desertion, having left his wife 10 days after their marriage on January 8, 1920, but was discharged.

Payne was committed to the Napanoch institution under the name of Wallace Payne, and Napanoch officers have been looking for him since he jumped his parole there. He is 27 years old and a native of Sullivan county. He was employed as a barber in Kingston by Herbert Clark. He says he is not a bad character, basing his statement on the fact that he had been a trusty at the Goshen jail and Napanoch institution.

Vice Presidency Issue Narrows to Hoover or Kenyon

Lowden's Refusal to Accept Nomination for Vice-President Unchanged —Secretary Curtis Mentioned as Compromise.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Cleveland, O., June 10.—Lacking the tension of other years when great national figures engaged in heated combat, yet still curiously dramatic in the dethronement of men who have been in party control for a quarter century, the Republican national convention opened here today with its pathway chalked out with the definiteness of a road map.

The convention delegates—1,109 of them—will nominate Calvin Coolidge for the presidency, select a running mate for him from among a score of candidates, adopt a platform over which there is little real fighting and then go home, having done in three days what in other conventions it has taken days and nights of turmoil and stife to accomplish.

There has been no convention like it in twenty years—since 1901 when the Republicans marched quietly to Chicago and nominated Theodore Roosevelt, another man called into the White House by the whim of an inscrutable fate, who then so solidified himself there that his party had little choice but to carry on with him.

Only the task of nominating a vice-president stood out today as offering the thrill of a fight such as has featured other conventions and made the gatherings what they are.

When the convention opened this morning it appeared that the vice-presidential contest had narrowed down to a handful of candidates, some open and some reluctant, and among whom the names of Frank O. Lowden, Herbert Hoover, Judge William S. Kenyon and Senator Charles Curtis, stood out.

Those who stand high in the councils of the Coolidge administration predicted that ultimately the issue would narrow down to two men—Hoover and Kenyon—and that the ultimate choice would be one of these.

The Lowden movement was in a peculiar state. Governor Lowden could be nominated if he would but say the word. But he won't say it. On the contrary he has, with dogged persistence, assured his friends that he does not want to be nominated and will refuse to serve if drafted.

Some of his supporters believe him. Others do not. No man has ever refused a nomination after it was made, authough many have pursued a course similar to Lowden while the movement was on.

Administration leaders who are in close touch with the White House have taken Governor Lowden at his word, and generally speaking, their strength is being transferred to Hoover.

Hoover, like Lowden, has said that he was not a candidate, but this morning word reached Cleveland from Washington that Mr. Coolidge had succeeded in extracting from his secretary of commerce a reluctant willingness to serve if nominated.

The Coolidge managers, however, do not see eye to eye on Hoover. The eastern contingent in the "administration crowd" is fairly solidly back of him, but the western managers, like James W. Good of Iowa, are quietly and with great insistence, putting forward William S. Kenyon, who, until his ascension to the federal bench a few years ago, was the leader of the senate farm bloc.

The Curtis movement is in the nature of a compromise between these two camps. While a Kansan who seldom loses an opportunity to lean toward the farmers, Senator Curtis, nevertheless, is a regular in every sense of the term and his friends in this convention have put him forward as an ideal combination of western progressivism and eastern conservatism.

Gun Toters Up Before the Court

One Pays Fine and Another Goes to Jail for Nine Months — Basch Pleads Not Guilty to Five Indictments.

Five defendants were arraigned in county court Monday afternoon to answer to indictments handed up by the last grand jury. One of the defendants when arraigned entered a plea of guilty to the charge in the indictment and was fined. Another, who had entered a plea of not guilty, changed his plea to guilty and sentence was imposed by the court.

Samuel Basch of this city was arraigned and entered pleas of not guilty to five indictments, four of which were for criminally receiving stolen goods and the other for grand larceny, first degree. Basch is charged with having received stolen goods on Oct. 10, 1923, in the city of Kingston. Another indictment charges the same crime on February 2, in the city of Kingston. A third indictment charges the same offense in the town of Ulster on March 13 and another in the city of Kingston on March 17, 1924. The grand larceny is alleged to have been committed in the city on February 2. Frank W. Brooks appeared for defendant and after entering a plea of not guilty he asked for copies of the indictments and defendant was admitted to bail. The charges grow out of automobile transactions.

Ira Hasbrouck, who resides at Hurley, through his attorney, Newton Fessenden, entered a plea of guilty to the charge of having had a revolver in his possession in violation of Paragraph 1, Section 1897 of the Penal Law. Ira had formerly pleaded not guilty. He has been in jail since April 1. Hasbrouck, who is a carpenter, residing at Hurley, sampled some prohibition liquor and it is alleged went to the home of Mrs. Scully, where he had lived for a time, and while there was ordered from the house. He took his gun and fired through the door of the Scully home and one of the bullets struck Mrs. Scully in the hand. At the time Mr. Scully and the children were also in the house. Judge Fowler sentenced the defendant to nine months in the county jail.

Edwin Schwab, indicted for grand larceny, second degree, alleged to have been committed in the city of Kingston on March 21, entered a plea of not guilty through his attorney, William D. Brinnier, Jr.

John W. Elmore, charged with forgery, second degree, alleged to have been committed in the city in February last, entered a plea of not guilty through his attorney, Frank W. Brooks.

Marian Jones, indicted for abduction, alleged to have taken place in the town of Olive on March 14, last, also entered a plea of not guilty. Judge William D. Brinnier, Jr., appeared for defendant.

John Baginski, indicted for having a pistol in his possession without a license, in violation of Paragraph 4, of Section 1897 of the Penal Law, entered a plea of not guilty. It is alleged he had a pistol in his possession on March 17 in the city of Kingston. Walter J. Miller appeared for defendant. A fine of $50, to be paid to the county of Ulster, was imposed by the court or in default of the fine, defendant could spend one day in the county jail for each $3 of the fine. He paid.

"Not Guilty" Said Kidd.

Charles Kidd, a negro arrested Monday evening by Officer Roedell on a charge of loitering in the vicinity of Chambers and Murray streets, pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Judge Schirick in police court today and the hearing was adjourned for two days.

Complete Draft of Rep'n Platform

No Substantial Changes Likely in Tentative Platform Drafted by Administration Leaders Under Personal Supervision of President Coolidge—The Issues.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Cleveland, June 10.—A tentative Republican platform, drafted by administration leaders under the personal supervision of President Coolidge, was completed today for presentation to the Republican national convention.

The document is dominated throughout by the issues which Mr. Coolidge himself selected for the campaign. Governmental economy, a promise of tax reforms and a pledge to strengthen this nation's present relations with the rest of the world, are its outstanding issues.

Before its final adoption by the convention, every dissenting faction will be given an opportunity to amend the platform. A series of public hearings were to be held this afternoon by the convention's committee on resolutions, but there was every indication there would be no substantial changes.

Although the platform was technically written by Charles Beecher Warren, ambassador to Mexico and chairman of the committee on resolutions, most of the planks were actually prepared by administration leaders, with the president's personal approval. Among those active in the document's preparation were Secretary Hughes, Secretary Weeks, Theodore Roosevelt, Secretary Hoover, Representative Theodore Burton, and C. Bascom Slemp, secretary to the president.

Among the issues were:

A pledge to "maintain the integrity of the budget system" and to continue President Coolidge's "policy of strict economy." A declaration "with pride" that the Republican administration slashed $200,000,000 from the cost of government and cut 50,000 employes from the payrolls, lifting the tax burden some $1,270,000,000 in two years, reducing $2,500,000,000 from the public debt.

Taxation.

A pledge to tax reforms with revision of the new tax law "which purports to tax wealth severely but in practice offers to the rich isles of safety and of exemption." A declaration that congress merely contented itself with tax reduction and that the need for tax reform to rid the nation of the emergency war tax burden still remains.

Tax Exempt Securities.

An expressed opposition to "further issuance of tax exempt securities" and advocacy of the early enactment of the constitutional amendment to enable congress to pass the necessary prohibitory legislation.

Labor.

A proud reference to the lack of unemployment with a comparison of conditions as they existed when President Harding went into office.

Agriculture.

A pledge to give to the farmer "all necessary government assistance in organizing and establishing a system for the cooperative marketing of agriculture products" and extension of government aid in "simplifying and cheapening our marketing and distributing machinery." A promise of departmental help in diversified farming where needed and "if necessary direct financial aid during the transition period," of diversification. A listing of the acts passed by the administration to help farmers.

Export Markets.

A pledge to continue "vigorous efforts" to strengthen and broaden the export market.

Railroad Rates.

A declaration in favor of a revision in the freight rate structure, "with a view to reducing the rates on agriculture products."

Railroads.

A declaration in favor of rate reorganization to effect a "more equitable distribution of the costs of production" and for the "principle of consolidation." A statement that additional legislation "is greatly desired" to expedite the administration's consolidation program.

Railroad Labor Board.

A declaration in favor of continuing the labor board but to "modify it if it fails to give satisfaction."

A demand to retain this "impartial tribunal to make decisions."

Immigration.

Endorsement of the new immigration law, but without reference to the Japanese exclusion clause.

Prohibition.

A declaration in favor of law enforcement, broad enough to directly include the prohibition law but with no comment upon the law itself.

Senate Scandals.

A declaration that guilt is personal and a pledge to punish every person found guilty of fraud against the government. A further contention that every public official shall be considered innocent until proven guilty and an appeal to the public to withhold judgment until the individuals are tried by jury trial.

National Defense.

A nation in favor of available national defense.

Foreign Affairs.

A proud reference to America's friendly relations with the rest of the world and a promise to strengthen and extend the friendly status with other nations.

World Court.

A flat endorsement of the Harding-Hughes-Coolidge plan for joining the world court, but with a renewed announcement that the United States will have no participation in the League of Nations.

Foreign Debts.

A declaration of opposition to cancellation of foreign debts but for the liberal settlement of all outstanding debts on the same terms given Great Britain. A reference "with pride" to the brilliant handling of the international debt situation by Secretary of Treasury Mellon.

Arms Conference.

Praise to Harding arms conference as the "greatest single step toward world peace in history," and a proposal to call another peace conference as soon as conditions warrant.

Coolidge Won't Express Choice

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, June 10.—President Coolidge wants the Republican convention at Cleveland to name a vice-presidential candidate without any suggestions from him, it was declared officially at the White House today.

It was announced that the president would have no communication to send to Cleveland and that he desired the party leaders and the delegates there feel free to carry out their own wishes.

Borah Will Not Be Candidate

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, June 10.—Senator William E. Borah of Idaho today definitely announced for the first time that he would not be a candidate for vice president even if the Republican convention at Cleveland nominated him.

In a telegram to John W. Hart, national committeeman for Idaho, now in Cleveland, Senator Borah said:

"If my name is presented to the convention please ask delegation to promptly withdraw same and positively decline for me. Make no mistake about this."

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

By Mary Graham Bonner

THE BIG TENT

The big tent was filling up quickly with people. There were men and women, boys and girls, and every one looked eager with excitement.

The Snake Charmer.

They had visited the animals in the tents near at hand. They had seen the snake charmer and the lady who swallowed the sword.

Some of the boys had taken water to the elephants and had been given tickets to the circus for the help they had given the circus people that morning.

Pretty soon the sound of the band was heard. And in a moment it appeared. The parade had commenced!

Right in a big tent door came the band. What a splendid tune they were playing. And along came many of those they had seen outside.

The snake charmer wore an enormous snake about her neck and she stroked the snake and smiled at the people as she went by.

Some of the people shivered and said:

"How can she do that!"

But it was certainly part of a circus to see something like that and it really quite thrilled them.

The clown came along and what jokes they cracked. It certainly seemed as though they had been down in the town for they spoke of stores they had visited and they had some of the names of the people, which made every one laugh.

It was fun to hear the clowns speak of those whom they knew.

There were wild animals, tigers and lions and bears. They were not in this parade, but they were just outside and ready to do some acts.

Those in the parade marched all around in the tent and then the circus began.

There were most wonderful trapeze performances and turning somersaults in the air with only a rope for the performer to hold.

There were riders, riding bareback and jumping through hoops and over beautiful wide ribbons.

The elephants performed and before they finished their act, or rather just as they finished, they all stood up on their hind legs while the band played a great long trill and every one clapped, for this was the elephants' way of bowing.

There was a beautiful lady who walked along a wire and she danced upon the wire and carried a parasol and did many marvelous tricks.

There were statues of living people and horses, too, and they stood in different positions and did not move a muscle.

You could hardly have believed they were alive unless you saw them afterward when they bowed. And then, of course, you were sure.

There were sea lions and they seemed to thoroughly enjoy their tricks and there were tumbling acts and races and through all the band played.

The Clowns.

All of the animals had been to the circus school during the winter and the people had practiced their tricks, too, and every one now was in the best of form.

Oh, such a huge circus as it was. So many things were to be seen that it seemed no one could possibly look at it all.

But that was one of the nice things about a circus—you couldn't find it dull!

And as every one left the big tent after the show was over people said to each other:

"After all there is nothing like a circus, is there?"

And every one agreed with every one else!

A DOZEN DON'TS

Don't let food dry on the baking dishes; set them at once into the sink and cover with water, hot for grease and cold for all dishes which have been used with eggs.

Don't pour boiling water over china or glass; it may not crack at the time, but it will drop off in pieces when least expected.

Don't forget to dash over a spot of grease (spilled on wooden table or floor) a cupful of cold water. It will congeal the grease and the most of it may be removed at once.

Don't use table silver for cooking around the stove; cheap utensils may be bought for such purposes.

Don't lay greasy spoons or utensils on the table or stove. Keep a tin pieplate or small tray to hold such things; this will save cleaning and scouring the table.

Don't pour boiling water on cup towels or dishcloths that have any grease about them; wash them in cold water first with a little soda or naphtha soap; then wash in hot water and boil.

Don't put tin dishes away without seeing that they are perfectly dry.

Don't use steel knives or forks on fish; it gives an unpleasant flavor.

Don't salt meat before cooking; wait until it is well-seared over to hold in juices and extractives.

Don't blacken a stove while hot, if at all. Simply wipe it off with a cloth reserved for that purpose and wrung out of greasy dishwater. Such treatment will keep a stove in fine condition if wiped twice a day.

Don't forget to use hot compresses of witch hazel on a stiff neck as soon as possible. Put a few tablespoonfuls of witch hazel into a shallow dish and lay in a cloth folded in several thicknesses, keeping it hot on the top of the range. A few applications will bring relief.

Don't forget to put all bloodstained garments into cold water. If a fresh spot of blood is dropped on a woolen garment cover it at once with dry starch. The starch will absorb the blood and may be brushed out when dry.

Call Teachers to Show Boys' Sanity

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Chicago, Ill., June 10.—University professors who schooled Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb in the law, including Prof. Roscoe Pound, dean of the Harvard Law School, will be called by the state in its determination to show the sanity of the confessed slayers of Robert Franks, it was announced today.

Two detectives will leave today for Ann Arbor, Mich., where Leopold and Loeb were students at the University of Michigan until the Christmas holidays last year, to take depositions from their fellow students there toward the same end of proving his sanity.

Distilled Wisdom in Aged Irish Proverbs

"The proverbs of a nation are the distilled wit of generations of its people, and the true wit of the race is oftentimes in proportion to the truth and beauty of its proverbs," says Seumas MacManus, who points out, according to the Montreal Herald, that the sayings of the Irish are singularly rich in poetry, philosophy, satire and wisdom.

"The silent mouth is melodious," is an Irish proverb of poetic beauty.

"Our eyes should be blind in the abode of another," and "If the best man's thoughts were written on his forehead, he would wear his hat down over his eyes," inculcate charity in judging others.

"God never shuts one door but He opens two," and "Hope is the physician of every misery," express the optimism of the race.

"Fierceness is often hidden under beauty." "There is often anger in a laugh," and "A good dress often hides a deceiver," are other ways of expressing the idea that appearances are sometimes deceiving.

"A man with one eye is a king among blind men." "Without treasure, without friends," and "A heavy purse makes a light heart," show the advantages of possession.

"Look before you leap," and "Don't take the thatch off your own house to buy slates for another man's," are good advice to the improvident.

"Enough is as good as a feast," preaches a sermon on contentment.

Many Countries Supply England With Oranges

We seldom stop to think in England what a wonderful and delicious fruit the orange is. Its "family tree" includes the lemon, the citrus, and the lime, and the first oranges seem to have come from India.

They came to this cold country by way of south Italy, Spain and Portugal, and until recent times, when millions of boxes reach us from California and Queensland, our main supply came from the south of Europe.

The sight of a Queensland or California orange ranch is one to remember, for the orange tree bears blossom and fruit simultaneously. In Europe, where orange growing is an ancient industry, trees are to be seen whose age is reckoned by centuries. The up-to-date colonial orange grower clears his old trees out as soon as they begin to fail and puts young trees in their place.

Many thousands of boxes of oranges arrive at the London docks, not only from the countries already mentioned, but from the Azores, the West Indies, Tangier, Malta, Brazil and many other tropical and subtropical lands, says London Tit-Bits. There are nearly a hundred different varieties of orange, of which the navel orange is the pick. It is one of the triumphs of orange growers that they have evolved a fruit which is seedless.

Her Worst Fault.

Probably the worst fault of the average woman is the ease with which a man can stand up and lie to her.

Planning How to Name Lowden

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Cleveland, O., June 10.—The Lowden movement simply refused to die, despite the efforts of the ex-governor and a few of his closest personal to give it the death thrust.

An arrangement was cooked up this morning whereby the roll of states is called for the presentation of names. Alabama, being first, will yield to Illinois, and the name of Lowden will be placed in nomination.

It was reported just before the convention opened this morning that the votes of Illinois, New York, Kentucky, Oklahoma, Connecticut, Alabama, Oregon and Nevada will form the basis of the Lowden strength on the first ballot.

The combined vote of these states will be 256 or approximately half of the required 555 to nominate.

Hints for Women Who Wish to Be in Style

Among the various odds against chic, none is more dire in its effect than too many furbelows. The once baby-faced belle who is nearing fifty, whose hair still shows blond beneath the accumulating silver, whose cheeks are still pink, but whose mirror reflects unmistakable plumpness—must now adopt dignified simplicity and avoid the coquetry of ruffles and overdetail.

Many frills are to be repudiated; anything too sweetly suggestive of infantile coquetry; too many flowers on the hat or in the pattern of the grown; too much narrow valenciennes lace on anything but undergarments. This is the time to dress for the figure, not the face, and the figure will demand careful attention; straight corseting and clothing lines that are vertical. Tall, thin women may have belted hips, floating sleeves, fluttering cape effects, but the plump woman should never call attention to her circumference by low girdles or widen her silhouette by any voluminous upper drapery. Neither must she go to the other extreme and outline her curves in tight garments, which ill become them.

Dresses, coats and wraps should all be easy fitting and, if possible, of rich, dignified material, well modeled. A good costume will outlast two or three poor ones, not only because it is better cut and fitted, but because its fashion will remain longer in fashion. This is especially true of outdoor costumes. House dresses may more often be successfully made at home.

Colored Handkerchiefs Are Bordered With Lace

White handkerchiefs, from time immemorial the hallmark of refinement, are apparently as obsolete as lace mitts and gaiters. Real lace kerchiefs excepted, for there are still the most exquisite bits of hand-woven cobweb linen with appliqued edge of rare point d'Alencon, valenciennes, duchess and other laces, precious but less well known.

The last word in handkerchief styles is a square of violet, green flame or orange linen, bordered with chantilly lace. Other novelties are shown in printed linen handkerchiefs, silk and chiffons printed in batik and futuristic patterns, hand-painted and stenciled.

A fancy for decorating in animal designs works allurements for the little people, whose handkerchiefs are stamped and embroidered with the figures of all the creatures that ever sailed in Noah's ark or that were created by the fancy of Hans Christian Andersen.

Attractive Shampoo Jacket

You will find it very convenient to own a shampoo jacket. One cut on Chinese lines is made of gay chintz lined with rubberized taffeta. The color of the lining should match one of the prominent colors of the chintz. The trimming bands are of the taffeta. The jacket may be cut from a kimono pattern. Leave long shoulders and face them with the wide bands. Close it with a few snap fasteners. This shampoo jacket is waterproof. It may be slipped on to protect your frock if you wish to rearrange your hair after you have dressed.

Fob Dress for Subdeb

The twelve-year-old girl will delight in a frock of light blue flannel with collar and cuffs of white linen. A tiny pocket on the waist is finished with an embroidered tab that resembles the popular fob so much in evidence at present.

Cold Water Purifier

Place a pitcher of cold water on a table in your room and it will absorb all impurities in the air. In a few hours a pitcher or pail of cold water—the colder the more effective—will make the air of a room pure, but the water will be entirely unfit for use.

Lucky

A dentist was called on in a hurry by Jenkinson, who was suffering violently from toothache. The dentist examined the tooth, saw it was badly gone, and said it must come out. So he gave a tremendous yank with his big silver forceps, and the extraction seemed successful; but on closer inspection it was found that a small piece of tooth remained in the swollen and sensitive gum. The dentist went jabbing about for this piece a good while. However, he hadn't much luck.

"Hang it all," he said finally, as he jabbed at the gum in a rather impatient, cross way—"hang it all, I don't seem to feel it."

"No?" said poor Jenkinson, all white and trembling. "You're in luck."

"Poor Man's" Gout

Chronic gout is a lingering malady characterized by deposits of urate of sodium on the joint cartilages at the ends of the bones, especially in the fingers, and often in the ears. It is also marked by an excess of oxalic acid salts in the blood. There is severe pain in one or more of the joints at the time the deposits are forming, and the pain may recur from time to time in the same or in other joints. Frequently the eyes suffer and in some cases the disease attacks the internal organs. Chronic gout is sometimes called "poor man's" gout. Its treatment, which is usually dietetic, should be begun as soon as the trouble is discovered.

Well, What Is It?

Henry Holt knew many of the great figures of half a century ago, and his reminiscences are full of anecdotes of the past and present. "One night at a dinner," he records in his "Garrulities of an Octogenarian Editor," "we heard William Dean Howells declare to St. Gaudens that there is no such thing as genius; whereupon St. Gaudens asked, "What do you call it when you see it?"

Zaro Women Supreme, but Ugly.

The Zaro women of India are supreme. They woo the men, control the affairs of the home and the nation, transmit property, and leave the men little or nothing to do. The result is, says an eminent scientist who has investigated the race, that they are the ugliest women on earth.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JUNE 10, 1924.

The German professor who announces his "discovery" that the Garden of Eden was near Berlin may perhaps consent to admit that in the course of ages it has been removed a considerable distance from its original seat.

It may be objected that if one of the "dark horses" mentioned is chosen to lead his name of Glass would invite the throwing of stones. But for that matter there will be brickbats for all of them and even mud a-plenty.

THE NEW IMMIGRATION LAW.

Apart from the Japanese exclusion feature it seems to be pretty generally recognized that the new immigration law is an improvement, providing beneficial changes in the previous immigration regulations. It limits the number of immigrants annually until 1927 to 161,000, and thereafter to 150,000. In addition, and over and above such temporary sojourners as travelers, business men and others, so-called non-quota immigrants may be admitted without numerical limitation. These include the unmarried children under 18 years of age and the wife of an American citizen. They also include immigrants previously admitted and returning after a temporary absence abroad. It is estimated that the women and children alone, for a number of years, will add another 150,000 to the number coming from Europe.

It is further provided that native-born citizens of any of the countries of the Western Hemisphere shall be admitted without regard to numbers. Judging from the record for the last two years, at least 200,000 such persons may be expected to enter each year. During the first half of the current immigration year, 103,000 Canadians and Newfoundlanders entered and nearly 60,000 Latin-Americans. The numbers from these sources are likely to increase in proportion to the decline in the number of Europeans. An annual immigration of about 500,000 from all sources is thought likely in spite of the restrictions of the new law. It is thought that the readjustment and improvement in machinery bid fair to do away with the rejection of persons because their quota had been filled while they were on the water, which led to much hardship and inevitably caused bitter criticism.

"SLUSH" AND CRIME.

Shocking crimes recently committed by men and women, and, what is more startling, by boys and girls may not be the definite result of some of the drivel that has been published about crime and criminals, but it is fair to presume that all that has been said in favor of the criminal and against the courts has had no deterrent effect upon lawlessness. It is a fact that crime has increased since efforts have been made to prove that more can be done along reformative lines by pampering convicts than there can be by proper discipline.

During the past few years there has been a disposition, it would seem, to convince the criminal that he is more to be pitied than censured and that he is sinned against more than he sins. This is the worst sort of suggestion but it has occupied the attention of many well intentioned people who have been taught to believe that brutality has been enjoyed by prison officers, when, as a matter of truth, it would be difficult to support any appreciable proportion of the charges of this nature. Some prison reformers with lectures to sell, it must be remembered, would not be able to find a market for their wares unless they had the thrill, which may explain the "brutality" of protecting society.

Until recently crime had been confined to adults, children having committed the usual childish pranks, but boys and girls committing murder and other felonies have not led the crime stories in the papers. The murder of young Franks in Chicago and the criminal activities of the bobbed hair bandit in New York are instances that would indicate that some of the younger element had been "fed up" on crime as detailed by those alleging scientific knowledge of crime and criminals.

There has been a tendency, it would seem, to allow the so-called prison reformers to proceed in the face of practices which safe and sane men would be compelled to admit were wrong. The reformers have been well organized as propagandists and no single individual has cared to engage them in a controversy. Nevertheless, in the light of the increase in crime it would be consistent to lessen pampering. At any rate, while petting prisoners may have had no direct bearing upon the increase in lawlessness it is not improbable that it had its effect.

That Body of Yours

YOUR HEART.

I have been very much interested in the different methods now in vogue for examining the heart.

For instance the taking of the blood pressure during excitement, after a hurried walk, or again after the receiving of depressing news, can all so change the readings that they are not worth much in trying to ascertain the strength of the heart.

Then the slight murmur that is so often found in growing boys and girls often alarms parents. It is of no significance whatever.

And then you naturally ask what about real murmurs? What about a heart where the valve doesn't close quite properly, and thus the heart has to pump twice, that extra blood that has flowed back through the small leak?

As the United States and Canada were so far from the seat of activities during the war, medical officers were not allowed to take a chance on a heart with a murmur.

Accordingly good rugged fellows, working every day in the week, many of them engaged in athletics, were rejected on account of a heart murmur.

What about the European nations?

Well, some of them were hard put for men and had to send everybody that could carry a rifle, nevertheless they soon learned that many of these men with murmurs, showed no more distress than other men under the same conditions.

Now this should be of great comfort to you if you have been told that you have a heart murmur, and have perhaps been rejected not only for the army but also for insurance.

It simply goes to show that if you keep your entire body in good physical condition, see that you get proper food and a reasonable amount of exercise, that you shouldn't really worry about your heart.

Because if your body is in good shape your muscular system will be likewise in good shape, and so your heart which after all is only muscle—although not under the control of the will—will likely be strong enough to take care of you all right.

You see, notwithstanding all our methods of examination, blood pressure appliances, stethoscope, and the cardiograph tracings of the heart beat, the great thing about the whole matter is just this.

How do you feel? Do you get out of breath easily? Can you do as much work as the other fellow? I mean ordinary manual work without getting out of breath sooner than he does.

I believe you can see my point.

This does not mean that you will play tennis, basketball, or other strenuous games, but that you can get along and do all the ordinary things of life without being afraid of your heart.

NEWBURGH ADMITS KINGSTON IS FIRST

The Newburgh News says editorially:

Modern Lights for Kingston City.

There is a tendency in some quarters to look on Kingston as a rather slow-going city, probably because it has not kept pace with Poughkeepsie and Newburgh in growth of population; but the opinion may have to be revised. Kingston is, we believe, the first city along the Hudson to take steps to modernize its entire street lighting system. With the cooperation of the electric corporation, the municipality is to do away with all its arc lamps, installing the most up to date lamps, not only in business streets but in residential thoroughfares. Most cities are content merely to overhaul the lighting system in the main streets. There is a growing feeling among citizens for better lights. It is reassuring to know that the amount of current needed for modern lights is little more than that being used by the old-style lamps.

Rural Carriers' Annual Banquet

Annual Meeting and Banquet of Rural Letter Carriers—Loyalty Pledged to Government and Post Office Department.

The annual meeting and banquet of the Ulster and Orange Counties Branch of the Federation of Rural Letter Carriers was held at the Community House of Montgomery Saturday evening, June 7th, and was well attended by carriers from all parts of Ulster and Orange counties and a few from Putnam county.

The president, William D. Corwin of Highland, presided and resolutions were adopted pledging loyalty to the United States government and the post office department, together with a number of other resolutions for the best interests of the srvice and the carrier body.

This was one of the most successful meetings yet held. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, William D. Corwin, of Highland; vice-president, Lewis F. Sinsapaugh of Montgomery; secretary, Albert Koch of New Paltz; treasurer, Howard Teller of Wallkill, executive committee, O. D. Snyder of Saugerties, and C. P. Miller of Newburgh; delegate to the state convention, Thomas Terwilliger of Montgomery.

It was voted to hold the semi-annual banquet in October at Newburgh and the next annual meeting at Highland.

After the meeting a banquet was held in the adjoining dining room given by the carriers to their wives, families and guests. President Corwin in view of the failure of the postal salary bill becoming a law expressed the wish that the carrier body would maintain the same loyalty for which they had always been noted in the past and laid stress upon the fact that the ground work for an equipment allowance had not been laid in vain and that the desired legislation would ultimately be enacted into a law. The speakers of the evening were Assistant District Attorney Robert Hume of Orange county, the Hon. Arthur Brundage, postmaster of Newburgh, Postmasters McNeal of Montgomery and Still of Warwick, Carriers Thomas Terwilliger and L. A. Sinsapaugh of Montgomery, C. Emmett Wood of Middletown.

Fruit Growers to Meet Wednesday

The fact that the sinnate pear borer has entered the pear-growing centers of the mid-Hudson Valley has been shown by a recent inspection of pear orchards by Dr. Hugh Glasgow of the state experiment station in co-operation with Dr. F. H. Lathrop of the Hudson Valley Fruit Investigations. The sinnate borer is so insidious in its attacks and its powers of destruction are so great that a young pear orchard may be practically destroyed before the grower realizes that his trees are suffering from insect injury.

The pest is new to this section, and few growers recognize the insect or its injury. In order that growers may learn to recognize the pest and may take steps to combat it, a meeting has been arranged to give all growers interested an opportunity to observe the borer and its work in a commercial orchard. This meeting will be held at A. J. Schaefer's orchard at 4 p. m., standard time, Wednesday, June 11. A thorough study of this pest will be made in the orchard, and control measures for this and other pests will be discussed. The wives and families of the growers are invited to attend and it is suggested that if well-filled lunch baskets are brought along, the affair may take the form of a picnic on the Schaefer spacious lawn after the close of the technical discussions.

It has been arranged to have a corps of technical workers on hand to discuss the various insect and fungus troubles confronting the fruit grower. Among those present will be the Farm Bureau managers and the spray service experts of Dutchess and Ulster counties as well as the entomologist and plant pathologist of the Hudson Valley Fruit Investigations.

To reach Mr. Schaefer's home from the north take the Highland-Modena road and turn into the Wallkill-Plattekill road just west of the village of Ardonia. From the south, take the Newburgh-Wallkill road, turn north off the Plattekill concrete road and continue straight through Plattekill. Direction signs will be posted along the road near the meeting place.

The Sinnate Pear Borer is of European origin, but it has been established in the lower Hudson valley for a number of years. It is slowly advancing northward, and is now present in destructive numbers at least as far north as Hyde Park and New Paltz. The adult is a copper-colored beetle about one-third of an inch long. The beetles appear during early June and are present throughout the rest of the summer. Eggs are laid in crevices in the bark of the trunk or limbs of the trees. Upon hatching the larva burrows directly into the cambium of the tree where it proceeds to form a very characteristic serpentine mine. When fully developed the larva is a whitish, elongate flattened "worm," about one and one-half inches long and one-fourth of an inch wide. The larva mines under the bark for either one or two seasons, depending upon conditions, before it emerges as an adult beetle.

It is the larval stage which causes the destruction. A single mine may extend for two or three feet along a limb or branch of the tree. The surface of the limb over the tunnel shows a characteristic cankered appearance, and the affected bark and sapwood are usually killed. The trees have great difficulty in healing over the lesions, and repeated attacks of the pest result in the death of large portions of the trees. The injury may be still further aggravated by the entrance of fire blight or fungus rots into the old borer mines. Young orchards suffer most severely because of their inability to withstand the attacks of the borer. In some communities, where proper control measures have not been followed, young orchards have been exterminated by this insect, and the planting of pears has been greatly discouraged.

Treatment.

Dr. Glasgow of the State Experiment Station, Geneva, has made a thorough study of the control of this pest for several years. The pear trees should be sprayed with arsenate of lead as soon as the beetles emerge in the spring. Two and one-half to three pounds of the drug arsenate of lead should be used to one hundred gallons of the spray mixture. Where psylla is to be combated, this may be combined with the heavy lime and nicotine spray. Ordinarily this spray should be applied during the first week in June. This season, however, it should not be applied before the second week of June. The purpose of this spray is to kill the adult beetles as they feed upon the foliage prior to laying their eggs.

Young pear orchards in which the pest is present should receive three arsenical sprays at intervals of ten days or two weeks, and after that an application is advisable every two or three weeks during the rest of the season. Mature pear orchards should also be given the first two applications, especially if they are close to the young plantings. Neglected pear trees should be sprayed or cut down for they are a menace to valuable orchards.

In addition to this spray program, the trees should be thoroughly examined during late summer, and the borers removed by means of a sharp knife. It is frequently advisable to to clean out the dead wood and bark from the old cankers and paint the scars with a protective paint.

Big Decrease In Employment

Factory Employment in State Drops Seven Per Cent in Two Months—Over 100,000 Taken off Payrolls.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, June 10.—Factory employment in New York state went definitely lower in May. Reports from manufacturers who employed over 500,000 persons in April show that about 22,000 of these had been dismissed by the middle of May. This statement was issued today by Industrial Commissioner Bernard L. Shientag of the State Department of Labor.

"The decline in May," said the commissioner, "following a similar movement in April, has reduced employment in New York state factories over 7 per cent in two months. It is estimated that over 100,000 workers were dropped from factory payrolls throughout the state in these two months. Part-time is also becoming more general so that a marked reduction in manufacturing activity is evident. The number of factory workers now employed has fallen back to where it was two years ago before the strong upward movement of 1922-1923 had begun. Fortunately this drop in factory employment comes at a time when outdoor work in farming and construction shows a seasonal increase."

GOWNS THAT ARE WORN AT A PARIS NIGHT CLUB

(By Eleanor Gunn).

It is not as difficult to know what the other half of the world is wearing, as it is to visualize how they live. Here are two dinner gowns which are ideal for a summer's night, and they were sketched in a chic Paris night club which would appear to make them worthy of careful scrutiny.

The first is of black crepe satin with black lace, but one has little difficulty in realizing the charm of this dress does not lie in its color, or rather back of it. The model in a soft dahlia taffeta was veiled with black lace in another instance, and would be equally effective in beige with black or matching lace. One can see at once what a radiant vision it would be in silver.

The beguiling feature of most French frocks is that they are so absurdly simple. This one is little more than a sheath with a detachable lace flounce tied in the front and a scarf, of course for not even in the evening are we to be weaned away from what has become an absolute essential to smartness. Such a dress is ageless and may be worn by sixteen or sixty, which is not quite true of the Diana blue frock beneath, with its scalloped and ruffled tiers, sparkling with crystals. This model might be copied by using lace with a silk or even metal cloth top, and is refreshingly simple and young in every line. The addition of a tulle scarf of contrasting or matching hue is a charming afterthought which in no way detracts from the simplicity.

Silvered kid slippers seem a natural choice in footwear, with of course, the most diaphanous hosiery.

Satirical Club

The Martinus Scriblerus club was founded in London in the early part of the Eighteenth century by Pope, Swift and other great writers of the day, for the purpose of satirizing all poor literary productions.

Constipation makes bright children dull—give them relief with Kellogg's Bran

Constipation dulls the youthful mind—makes children backward in their studies—makes them listless—and can lead to serious diseases. Constipation is a dangerous disease.

You cannot afford to take chances in getting relief. You cannot afford to experiment or put off. Kellogg's Bran brings relief—permanent relief if eaten regularly. Even in the most chronic cases of constipation it is guaranteed to bring results. If it fails, your grocer will return your money.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, has brought relief to thousands because it is ALL bran. Remember, only ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective. That is why Kellogg's Bran is recommended by doctors. It sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. It causes regular, healthy, normal action. For it works as nature works. It is ALL bran.

Have your children eat it regularly—two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Eat it with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Try it in the wonderful recipes on every package.

The flavor is delicious—a crisp, nut-like flavor that delights the taste. Different by far from ordinary brans, which are unpalatable.

Begin serving Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, to your children to-day. Eat it yourself. The leading hotels and clubs serve it. Made in Battle Creek. It is sold by all grocers.

Girl Scout Camp Opens July 5

Camp at Wallkill Open to All Girls Over Ten Meeting Requirements—Camp Will Run For Eight Weeks.

Registrations are now open for the Ulster County Girl Scout camp at Wallkill. Although the council has been running a camp for three years, the site this year is entirely new and the camp will embrace many new and unique features.

Plans have been completed for erecting a fine mess-hall and a great deal of new equipment is being purchased. The site is located upon Lake Elwood on the Borden Home Farm, Wallkill, offering very fine swimming. The camp committee is stressing the water-sports this year and is providing the very finest water-protection possible. The swimming instructor is a Red Cross Life Saving Examiner and the greatest care will be taken by her and her assistants to safeguard the young swimmers and teach correctly and well, this most important of accomplishments.

Although a camp for Girl Scouts, the council is willing to give other girls the benefit of this training and will accept registrations from any girl over ten years of age who will qualify as a good camper and can pass the medical examination required. Health certificates are sent out to all applicants as soon as application is filed. These are filled out by a physician and are required in order to protect the girls themselves as individuals and the camp in general.

Application blanks may be secured at No. 76 Maiden Lane, and all requests for such should be sent to Miss Anne Roos at that address. The board is $7.00 a week and a registration fee of two dollars, which is deducted from the board, is to be sent upon application.

Court Busy With Collision Case

Two of the four cases appearing on the day calendar were disposed of in county court Monday afternoon. A negligence action brought by Alphonsus Brown against William Marcus was put over the term when Chris J. Flanagan, who appears for defendant, stated that he was unable to get in touch with his client. The action grows out of an automobile accident. Andrew J. Cook of Van Etten & Cook appeared for plaintiff.

An action on contract brought by William E. Reynolds against Engelbert Roentgen was disposed of when there was no appearance by the defendant and judgment was directed in favor of the plaintiff. Mr. Reynolds sued to recover $10 for board for a horse owned by the defendant while he boarded for three months and for $2 for work and services. The plaintiff resides at Woodstock and testified he had boarded the horse of his neighbor and did certain work at the home of Mr. Roentgen. Judgment in the sum of $42 was directed by the court.

A jury was then taken in an action brought by William Moore against Hiram Shultis of the town of Shandaken. This is a negligence action, an appeal from justice court, growing out of an automobile accident near the Woodland Valley road just west of Phoenicia on October 19, 1923, when the cars of the two parties came together. Plaintiff claims that while he was returning to his home in Phoenicia from his work at shaft 7, at Allaben a car driven by the defendant which was approaching in an opposite direction cut across the road a few feet in front of his Ford sedan and an accident resulted in which his sedan was damaged to the extent of $185. Defendant who was travelling west over the road was approaching the driveway of his home on what is known as the "Midget Farm" near Phoenicia. When the Moore car was some distance away he turned into this driveway and the accident resulted. Plaintiff claims that no signal was given of the intent to turn from the road by defendant and that he was travelling at a speed of from 20 to 25 miles per hour which prevented him from stopping his car when he saw the Shultis car turn. He testified that the Shultis car was travelling at a slower rate of speed. Shultis was accompanied by his wife.

John W. Eckert appears for plaintiff and Frank W. Brooks for defendant. Defendant denied the allegation and sets up a counterclaim.

Mellon Gets Big Ovation

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Convention Hall, Cleveland, June 10.—After the list of vice chairmen was read, the usual routine resolutions were adopted, providing for the appointment of committees which already have been completed and announced, and for the rules of the 1920 convention to govern this session.

Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, who leads the Pennsylvania delegation, received a tremendous ovation when he was recognized by Chairman Burton to present a routine resolution. Delegates leaped to their feet and the great hall resounded with cheers.

After the ovation continued for several minutes Burton insisted upon his coming to the platform, and he did so amidst a deafening boom of applause.

Burton stopped the demonstration after several minutes and Mellon returned to his seat.

Reading clerks then began to read the personnel of the various committees. It proceeded among a scattering of applause as each delegation applauded its own selections.

The convention adjourned at 1:36 p. m., until 10:30 a. m. Wednesday.

HAY FIRE IN COYKENDALL BARN ON JANSEN AVENUE

Fire in the hay mow of the Coykendall barn on Jansen avenue about 4:30 o'clock Monday afternoon caused an alarm to be turned in from Box 53. The fire is thought to have been caused by crossed electric wires. The building was used as a stable for the work teams of the Coykendall estate and also as a garage by Charles DeForest, the milk dealer. The burning hay caused a dense smoke but the fire was soon controlled by the fire department. The damage to the barn was not heavy.

Fire Laddies Had New Truck

They Were Visiting Cleveland But Pride In Their Truck Caused Them To Delay National Convention.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Convention Hall, Cleveland, June 10.—At the last moment there was danger for a minute that the opening day of the Republican National convention would be a complete frost.

The crowds were just streaming into the public hall when pandemonium broke out. They began streaming out again to watch pandemonium go by in state.

Traffic police blew their whistles and herded everything on Superior avenue to the curb. It was a clanging fire truck that nearly gave the convention visitors hysteria. There was no fire.

It was only some visiting firemen from Haskins, Penna., showing off their new Ford fire truck. It was a nice truck and they were nice firemen. When they were gone, every one resumed his nap.

Those persons who went into convention hall today to work weighed not an ounce under 337 pounds. It was the badges that made them heavy. The national committee issued badges galore of all kinds. Some are for telegraph messenger boys, others for telegraph operators, photographers, newspapers correspondents, members of committees and other important people.

The badges are made of battleship armor plate and bang to the breast tightly as a sash weight.

If you have one kind of badge, you are entitled to enter number four telephone booth just inside the main entrance, but you can go nowhere else. Other badges will let you into the boiler room of the hall, but mean nothing in the press section.

The solution was for every one to carry from 15 to 20.

Ten thousand hot dog sandwiches sprang into being with the opening of the doors of the Convention Hall to employes and workers at 9 o'clock this morning.

Ten thousand hot dogs and reserves of 40,000. Another 10,000 assorted sandwiches; six thousand pies, numerous pots of coffee, 160 gallons on the counter at once and enough supplies of other edibles.

A. E. Hart, the official stenographer, got a baby ovation when he walked in and sat down. The spectators thought he was one of the history makers, so Hart put them right by getting out his notebook, pens, pocket ink bottle that he has carried through the Versailles Peace Conference and most of the important affairs in Washington.

After that, the crowd dropped the policy of cheering or handclapping whenever the speaker, whoever he happened to be, reached a period.

When John T. Adams, the national chairman, in the course of his speech, told the multitude that sixty years ago Lincoln was president, the surprised thousands broke into terrific handclapping.

Bugs Baer rushed into headquarters at the last minute for his press ticket. There was none forthcoming. Bugs finally went in on a telegraph operator's badge, but that didn't fool anybody.

A six foot "lily white" delegate from Mississippi created some excitement just before the convention opened by racing pell mell down the middle of the street. When captured he declared "Kluxers were after him." Investigation revealed that the colored gentleman had seen a flaring sign in a window advertising "K. K. K." cutlery, meaning Keen Kutter Knives.

Mrs. Lula Brown Campbell of Chattanooga, Tenn., and Washington, D. C., today promised herself a good spell of nervous prostration as soon as this convention is finished.

Mrs. Campbell sits at a desk and telephone under a sign that says "Information" in the headquarters of the Republican national committee.

People begin calling her up right after breakfast and asking for bed time stories of one kind or another.

Between telephone calls, she answers direct questions, directs visitors to the water cooler and explains that no, she's sorry, they haven't any more tickets to the convention.

OIL SCOUT ACTIVE IN BROWN STATION

Word comes from West Hurley that Harry Wiley is a frequent visitor in their hamlet and is certainly on the job obtaining leases. The village folk say that he has quietly blocked up a bunch of oil bearing land in the vicinity of Brown Station and has also rented the McParland homestead to be used by the drillers.

President Kept in Touch by Radio

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, June 10.—The president and Mrs. Coolidge listened to the opening session of the convention with their high power radio set, installed at the White House by navy engineers. Special amplifying apparatus was installed by the Washington Telephone Company so that the keynote speech of Congressman Burton and the lesser details of the meeting boomed out in stentorian tones throughout the executive mansion.

Rep'n Convention Under Way

lobbies in Cleveland and broadcast them to millions of unseen listeners.

Think He Meant Prohibition.

It was not until Burton got nearly half way through his speech that the first manifestation of real enthusiasm broke from the delegation. This demonstration came when Burton declared:

"The Republican party stands now as always firmly for law enforcement."

This was construed as a direct reference to the prohibition situation.

There was more applause when he said the party stood for conservation of natural resources and was opposed to "hundred year leases."

He mentioned no such lease by name but the delegates understood it to be a reference to the Ford offer for Muscle Shoals and they cheered.

The allusion to the bonus that a Republican congress passed over President Coolidge's veto, was received in interested and stony silence. Burton simply dismissed the bonus with the statement that it is now on the statute books and should be considered history.

Must "Stand Tried and True."

Burton's taking the Wisconsin and other insurgents severely to task, evoked a greater outburst of enthusiasm than any other portion of his lengthy address.

A volume of cheers came from the floor when Burton asserted that most of the criticism of congress could be traced to the fact that the Republicans could not control the insurgents within their ranks and solemnly reminded them that there was no greater duty ahead of the Republican party this year than the election of a Republican congress that would "stand tried and true."

Eastern delegates leaped to their feet with cheers and slowly all other delegates rose and remained standing as they applauded.

Like a little oasis in the desert, the Wisconsin delegation sat smiling at this "rebuke." They did not arise nor did they cheer—save one lone member, who happens to be anti-La Follette.

The enthusiasm following the Wisconsin thrust, seemed infectious, for a moment later when during Burton said he was reluctantly compelled to admit the people look to Calvin Coolidge for leadership and not to congress there was another outburst of cheering from standing delegates.

Burton's handling of the scandals at Washington also found favor. He "solemnly protested" against the impression there is widespread corruption in Washington and denounced as "criminal" these who seek to destroy the people's faith in their government, by the "mouthings of criminals."

Senator Frank B. Willis, of Ohio, led the applause on this section of the speech. Willis was the chief defender of Harry M. Daugherty in the United States senate.

Burton finished at 1:04 p. m., having spoken an hour and thirty-seven minutes. He was obviously tired at the conclusion.

The national committee brought in a long list of temporary officers and these were speedily ratified. Lafayette Gleason was named secretary and Colonel Ed. Hayer of Indiana, sergeant-at-arms.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Millerand Gets Snub and Defeat

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, June 10.—President Millerand, who is fighting the efforts of the left bloc to force him from office, addressed a message to parliament this afternoon asking the members to "respect the constitution and not make the presidency a play thing of the parties."

The president asked the parliament to assume the proper responsibilities and not begin the session "with a revolutionary act."

Millerand suffered a snub and a defeat in the senate when that body adjourned, on motion by the Left bloc, immediately after the message was read after refusing to discuss it.

The adjournment vote was 154 to 144, the opposition having a majority of 10.

Financial and Commercial

By Telegraph to The Freeman

New York, June 10.—Steadiness marked trading at the opening of the stock market today. There were some scattered declines, but the majority of issues registered fractional gains. Business, however, was in small volume.

U. S. Steel was unchanged at 94¾; sugars were firm; oils were steady; railroad shares were fairly active and steady.

The movement of prices was upward in the forenoon trading on the stock exchange today. Overnight business news contained nothing on which the movement could be based and it was assumed the market's strong undertone reflected Wall street's gratification over developments at Cleveland, especially as regards the disposition of the Republican convention to seek a conservative as the candidate for the vice-presidency.

Buying for investment account of the better grade issues was stimulated by the extreme ease in money rates, the renewal rate for call loans being fixed at 2 per cent the lowest figure since August 6, 1917.

Pool operations were responsible for the rise in a few specialties. Buying of non-dividend paying rails continued unabated under the leadership of Missouri Pacific preferred which reached a new high level for the year above 47.

Grains developed great strength in response to the bullish government condition report. Cotton was steady.

Larabee of 17 Chester street, Nashua, New Hampshire, were united in marriage at the home of the bride on Saturday evening, June 7, by the Rev. Dr. Morrison. The home was tastily decorated with wild and cut flowers. The bride's dress was white crepe embroidered and she carried white bridal roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid was Miss Ruth Nelson, sister of the bride; she wore pink crepe and carried pink roses. The best man was Ralph Longyear, brother of the groom. Lots of Futilities.

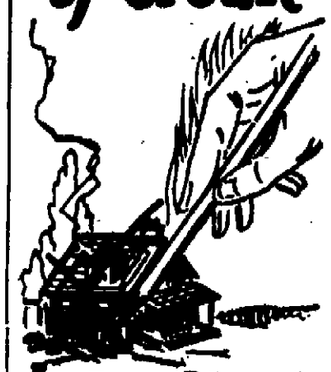
Among the other futilities, circulating a petition often has to be included.

FIRE—destroyer of credit



Insurance the great Restorer

THE reach of FIRE is great. No place, whether it is built of flimsy wood or sturdy concrete, is entirely beyond it. No wonder, then, that the banker demands that perishable property be insured before he advances a loan upon it.

A $20,000 house uninsured, in the mind of the banker, is merely a house—something that is standing today, but may be a smoking ruin tomorrow. The same house, insured, represents $20,000 today, tomorrow, and all the time.

Fire insurance is only one form of protection this agency can offer you. Tornado, Explosion, Use and Occupancy, Rent, and many other forms of protection are available for you NOW.

A word from you will bring an immediate response.

SOPHIE GERMAIN.

Sophie Germain was born in Paris in 1776 and made, at a comparatively early age, remarkable progress in the mathematical sciences. In 1816, she won the prize of the Academy of Sciences for a treatise on the vibration of elastic laminae. She wrote several subsequent treatises on this subject, which spread her name throughout the scientific circles of Europe. During the revolution of three days, she was quietly engaged at Paris in the preparation of a memoir on the curvature of surfaces, which won for her further renown when it was published in 1830. She died in 1831 of cancer. Her knowledge was by no means limited to the exact sciences, and she was an ardent student of natural history, history, geography and philosophy.

THE ATLANTIC CABLE.

The American steamship Niagara began to lay the Atlantic cable sixty-six years ago today. An attempt to lay the cable had been made the previous year at Valentia, in Ireland, but after a few miles the cable snapped. A second attempt failed after 300 miles of wire had been paid out, and the project was abandoned until the June of 1858. After overcoming many obstacles the British and American vessels employed in the epochal task were successful, and on August 5, 1858, the first two messages, from the Queen of England to the President of the United States, and his reply, passed over the 2,050 miles of cable stretching between Newfoundland and Valentia. The event caused great rejoicing on both sides of the Atlantic, but it proved to be premature, for the insulation of the wire gradually became more faulty, and within a month the power of transmitting messages finally ceased. While this failure was naturally a disappointment, the promoters were not downhearted, and in 1860 a new company was formed, and six years later a successful cable line was in operation. It is estimated that there are now 320,000 miles of cable lines in operation throughout the world.

Now Youthful Beauty Can Be Quickly Restored and Preserved!

New Spanish Discovery Removes Wrinkles in 10 Minutes. Imparts a Peach Glow Complexion and Quickly Heals All Blemishes

Women are beginning to realize that they no longer need to dread the time when wrinkles appear in the face and the skin on the hands become flabby and finely wrinkled. In Grandmother's time, when this period was reached, a woman sat back and tried to resign herself to the fireside. Age claimed her for its own. She was shelved before her time. But now modern science has changed that!

A well known Spanish Chemist, Jacques Romano, has made a remarkable discovery which removes wrinkles in 10 minutes.

His discovery, which he calls Onamor, is a scientific compound which eradicates wrinkles, tightens up all flabby places and restores to the face the lost complexion and rounded contours of youth.

The almost magical effectiveness of Onamor is due to the fact that it works on an entirely new principle. Onamor contains no earth or clay of any sort to imbed itself in the skin. It requires no massaging: the cream itself does the work.

Wrinkles come from several sources—from laughter, care, and the lowered vitality of the underlying tissue caused by age. Onamor gets at the cause of wrinkles, stimulating and building up worn tissue, correcting flabbiness, removing blemishes, rejuvenating the skin without regard to age.

Onamor, applied to the skin of the face and hands—where age first leaves its tell-tale marks—will accomplish marvels of rejuvenation in an amazingly short time. In the first 10 minutes' treatment you will actually see your wrinkles disappear!

Onamor is being used daily by the world's greatest society leaders and by stars of the stage and screen.

And best of all the results of Onamor are absolutely guaranteed.

Go to any druggist or department store named below and purchase a tube of Onamor with this guarantee of satisfaction.

If you do not say Onamor is absolutely the greatest aid to youthful beauty you have ever tried take the tube back to the store from which you bought it and every cent you paid will be immediately refunded to you. Don't fail to take advantage of the liberal free trial offer.

You can get Onamor with this guarantee at the following good stores:

McBride Drug Store, W. S. Elting, Malone & Walker, Bongartz Pharmacy, Weber's Pharmacy, Connelly Drug Co., Wonderly Co., Rose-Gorman-Rose, or write for free book "How to Prevent Facial Ageing." The Onamor Co., 96 Madison Avenue, New York City.

Tri-County Light Commis'n Formed

The commission to appraise the claim for damages of the Tri-County Light and Power Company against the city of New York, for taking the water power at Gilboa, met on June 2 for the purpose of organization. John P. Taylor of Albany is chairman of the commission. Frank L. Briarly of New York and Senator Arthur F. Bouton of Roxbury are the other members of the commission. The first meeting of the commission will be held on July 7.

About a year ago an award of $150,000 was made by the commission which took testimony in the case. When the report of the commission came up for confirmation before Judge Howard at Troy, William H. Grogan, who appeared for the city of New York, moved to have the award set aside as being excessice and asked that a re-hearing be granted. The motion was granted and the present commission appointed to hear the claim at the re-hearing. From this order of Judge Howard an appeal was taken by the claimant to the appellate division, and the appellate division unanimously affirmed the opinion of Judge Howard. During the time the matter was being heard in the courts the present commission remained inactive until the decision was handed down recently, when a meeting for organization was called.

THINGS UNUSUAL

PALM CANYON

Nature richly endowed this country with much of the most majestic scenery on the globe. The choicest places "have been reserved for you, that you and your children after you may know and enjoy these unspoiled bits of native America." Uncle Sam is ever alert for new scenic assets of outstanding value in the old wilderness which come down to us as left by nature and practically unchanged by the hand of man.

One of the latest selections to form a link in Uncle Sam's chain of unmatched beauty spots is Palm canyon, which has been described as "A bit of Arabia transplanted to the Western hemisphere," located 55 miles southeast of Riverside, Cal.

Here in a series of canyons but little removed from a desertlike section grow scores of magnificent Washington palms—tall, graceful, picturesque and centuries old, undoubtedly, the only native palms in all California, as well as a number of species of interesting and unusual cacti—the entire ensemble forming a botanical collection both unusual and extraordinary.

These native palms are scattered along the banks of a tortuous little stream which flows through the canyon and clustered around it in groves where it emerges from the hills. The scene is both surprising and romantic. It is likewise magnificent because almost directly overhead Mount San Jacinto rears its lofty head. In one direction the canyon appears to be closed by a great wall of colored rock. Righting about face the view leads out onto the desert beyond.

Nearby may be seen other palms, larger perhaps, older too, possibly, which have been burned and scarred through enforced participation in certain Indian ceremonies having to do with the burning of the so-called "skirts" while still on the trees. Many of these unusual and peculiar-to-America trees have been cut down by various people and carried away for numerous uses.

As proposed, there are 1,600 acres in the reservation. The consent and relinquishment of a remnant of the Agua Caliente band of Indians is necessary before the tract may become a national monument. Assuming that the Indians give their consent, the ride from Riverside to Palm canyon and the trip through the canyon bid well to become a lure which will beckon untold thousands as the years roll by.

Why N. Y. 'Phone Co. Wants More

Reasons Set Forth in Brief Filed With Public Service Commission On Application For Temporary Increased Rates.

The reasons why the New York Telephone Company believes it is entitled to a favorable action by the Public Service Commission on its application filed February 3 last, asking for immediate temporary increase in rates, are set forth in a brief filed with the commission at Albany on Monday.

Since the application was made the United States District Court of New York has permitted the company since May 1st to make a 10 per cent surcharge on local service in New York city temporarily and until further order of the court. This suit is still pending before the Federal court. The company's brief declares that the contention of the city of New York which has opposed the company's application is unfounded and entirely without merit. It also contends that if all the claims made by the city of New York were allowed, the company's net revenue would be several millions of dollars less than the Commission intended it to be.

The brief covers only the questions raised by the company's application for immediate temporary relief under the provision of the Public Service Commission's law and asks the Commission to prescribe rates for the company which will permit it to have a net revenue which the Commission itself declared the company was entitled to under its decision on January 25, 1923. At that time the Commission prescribed a schedule of rates after fixing the value of the company's plant at $246,000,000.00, the value many millions below the true value claimed by the company. The Commission fixed a rate of return of not more than 7 per cent upon its adequate rate base. Even on this valuation of the Commission and its intended rate of return of 7 per cent, the company's net earnings in 1923 fell short by more than three million dollars of the Commission's estimate. This shortage which was confined to New York city would be increased to at least $7,500,000.00 in 1924 if the Commission's rates remained in force throughout the year.

The brief declared that the company's purpose for making application for temporary relief was to obtain the adoption of an immediate increase in rates without protracted hearings and delays.

S. civil service examination for specialist in industrial education. Mr. Greene has been asked by the education department if he would accept the appointment, but in view of the fact that it would mean extensive travel over the entire United States, and thus break up his home life, Mr. Greene declined the very tempting offer.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Carroll have been entertaining the following friends from New York city: Mr. and Mrs. William J. Murphy, Miss Mae Murphy, Miss Helen McGrath and John A. McGrath.

G. N. Oliver and family of Marbletown, visited in town last week.

Wills Won but Lost Prestige

Negro Giant Fails to Knock Irish Madden Down—Father Time is Slowing up Heavyweight Challenger.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, June 10.—Harry Wills, the negro challenger of Jack Dempsey, is slowly giving quarter to that great, invisible fighter, Father Time.

Wills, even his staunchest admirers admitted, is slowing down under the burden of years. He failed to knock out Bartley Madden, the "fighting Irishman," in fifteen rounds here last night and suffered an almost irresparable loss of prestige.

The negro, six feet three inches, and weighing 213 pounds, was as menacing a looking physical specimen as ever crawled through the ropes. He seemed in superb condition. Long, lean, race horsy, splendidly proportioned, with long powerful arms, tremendous shoulders and slim wrist, he looked a 100 per cent better fighter than the pudgy, 185 pound Bartly Madden.

But something was wrong with Wills, despite his splendid appearance. He had speed, but not the flashing speed of old. He had agility, but not any more than Bartley. He had power, but not enough to put Bartley away. And he seemed to tire easily.

He cut Madden's face to ribbons. He rocked him almost off his feet on several occasions. He pounded and mauled and slashed and butted and held and scowled but he couldn't subdue the fighting Irishman. He won thirteen of the fifteen rounds—all but the tenth and eleventh.

And when the gong rang at the end of the fifteenth, Madden stood there in the center of the ring, his bloody face wreathed in smiles, bowing to the cheering throng, a hero in defeat.

Wills, tired and crestfallen, crawled slowly through the ropes. He had won, yet he had lost.

Father Tim seemed close up to him as he strode, with slightly bent shoulders and bowed head, to his dressing room.

KELLY ALL STARS SUBMERGE ST. PETER'S.

Monday evening at Hasbrouck Park the fast stepping Kelly All Stars handed the St. Peter's nine a trouncing, score 12 to 2. The Kellys outclassed the St. Peter's team and drove Connelly, formerly of the Kingston All Stars to the showers, after scoring five runs in the first three innings. Spader and Roos were also hit freely.

The Kellys looked very good after a week's rest and their fielding was high class. The addition of Cassidy has strengthened the Kelly infield.

Cullen, the ace of the Kellys, will do the pitching this evening against the K. and G. team. The Kellys are out to win the third straight.
